J. T. HINTON.

Col. Breckinridge Stricken With Paralysis.

Wednesday morning about 10 o'clock, in his office in the McClelland Building, at Lexington, Col. W. C. P. Breckinridge had a stroke of partial paralysis which affected his right side, and for the time being, his vocal chords. The attack was as unexpected as sudden. He had been growing steadily stronger for the past three weeks, and had gone to his office twice a day for the past week.

Wednesday morning he seemed rather better, stronger and in better spirits than he has at all, though through all his illness neither his spirits nor his good humor and gentleness have ever shown an effect of his bodily illness.

He left home a few minutes after 8 o'clock. Several gentlemen called, to see him—one young attorney who is a great friend of his and who has shown his friendship on numerous occasions, thoughtlessly urged him to take depositions in a case in which they were interested, but to which Col. Breckinridge had paid no attention for some months.

It was rather a full hour, from 9 to 10 o'clock, at which time Mr. Robert L. Northcutt, his stenographer, noticed that he seemed to be in pain, though he made no complaint—as, in fact, he has never done since he has been sick.

Mr. Northcutt telephoned Mr. Desha Breckinridge, who, when he got to his office, found him sitting at his desk with his right side partially paralyzed and unable to speak. Drs. Clark and Kinnard came very quickly and were with him till he was taken home in the ambulance.

With his superb constitution and temperate habits, his physicians not only do not think there is any immediate danger, but that he will recover from this stroke.

A telephone message to the News last night, just before going to press, stated that Col. Breckinridge's condition is not changed.

Wilson-Goodwin Wedding.

One of the prettiest weddings of the season was that of Mr. James Wilson and Miss Georgia Goodwin, of Cynthiaana. The pretty new Christian church was beautifully decorated in palms and ferns, the soft, sweet strains of music, combined with the decorations, handsome assemblage and beautiful bridal party, gave one a feeling of enchantment.

First came the pastor, then, four groomsmen in pairs, viz: Charley Cox, Henry May, Webster Victor, Mr. H. Jovitt; next, Miss Wilson, sister of the groom, Miss Margaret Butler, Miss Margaret Lyne, Miss Cora Adams. Then the bride on the arm of her sister, Miss Bettie Belle Goodwin, the maid of honor. The groom and best man, Mr. Smith, appeared from a bower of ferns and met his bride at the altar.

The bride was beautifully dressed in white satin and lace. The bride's maids wore white point de sprite over silk. The maids of honor wore yellow silk. The maids carried yellow chrysanthemums, and the bride white roses. After the wedding an informal reception was held at the home of Mr. Adams. Miss Margaret Butler, of this city, received the bride's bouquet of roses. Miss Goodwin is the handsome daughter of Mr. Wm. Goodwin, of Harrison county, and has been a frequent and popular visitor to Miss Margaret Butler in this city. Mr. Wilson is the popular editor of the Cynthiaana Log Cabin. The happy couple left on the 9 o'clock train for a trip East.

Those who attended the wedding from Paris were Col. J. G. Craddock, Mrs. J. Henry Butler and Miss Lorine Butler.

Bourbon Horses Shipped East.

Clarence Kerr, of North Middletown, shipped to New York by Adams Express eleven head of fine walk-trot horses. These horses were sold to Mr. F. C. Hallis, of 11 Wall street. In this lot was Mr. Kerr's noted gray, gelding, "Yankee Council." Mr. Kerr also sold and shipped this week 26 head of horses and mules to Messrs. Banks & Henegan, of South Carolina, and to a gentleman in Delaware his high acting gelding, "Henri." While in New York Mr. Kerr with his brother, W. G. Kerr, will attend the New York horse show.

Arm Bruised and Broken.

Henry Smith, colored, the accommodating porter at H. O. James' new saloon in the Elks' building, met with a painful accident yesterday. He was operating the dumb waiter leading to the Elks' club rooms, when his right arm was caught in the elevator and badly bruised and the bone in the forearm was fractured.

Cause of Drouths.

There is no question but that the recent drouths in this section of the country is due largely to the destruction of forest trees, which of late years has gone remorselessly on. In course of time the wise farmer will open his eyes to the necessity of planting trees to supply the need of those that have been cut away.

Rich Lead Deposits.

Rich deposits of lead ore have been discovered in Harrison county, and a $75,000 company has been organized to develop the property. The company will be known as the Licking Lead Mining Co., and articles of incorporation have been filed.
